++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry, breezy with isolated showers. Perhaps heavy later.

Today:
A mostly dry and breezy start with sunny spells, although the odd light shower possible. A few heavier showers may develop by the afternoon, and an isolated rumble of thunder cannot be completely ruled out. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Any evening showers fading, with light winds leading to a chilly and clear night. Cloud then thickening from the west during the early hours of Tuesday, with winds also strengthening. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tuesday:
Rather cloudy with strong winds. Mainly dry in the east, with the odd glimpse of sunshine possible, and feeling mild. Low cloud, and outbreaks of drizzle possible across the Pennines. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Mild, windy, rather cloudy and wet throughout. Rain will be persistent at times, especially across western hills. The best of the drier weather and any brighter spells in the east.
